

MEMBER SPOTLIGHT

Pat Case
Owner
Case Communications

Pat Case has been coming to the Gorge since 1992, moving here full time from New York City in 2002. After experiencing firsthand the life-altering events of 9/11, she realized that life was indeed too short and that she needed to focus on what really mattered. Outside of work, her current interests include home improvements, hiking and the art and life-ways of Native Americans. An interesting fact about Pat is that she spent three weeks living on a Kibbutz in Israel.

Quick Links

Case Communications Website

GTA Website

Case Communications

Case Communications helps clients with web design and other communications services, with owner Pat Case bringing over 30 years of marketing experience to bear. Pat ensures her websites are search-engine friendly, aesthetically pleasing, edited for easy online reading and coded using current standards-compliant CSS/XHTML.

Clients of Case Communication are often local or regional human-service organizations, arts organizations or nationally-recognized artists. Local clients include Columbia Center for the Arts and Hospice of The Gorge. Pat recently completed a website for nationally acclaimed Yup'ik artist Phillip Charette and is currently working on websites for This Old Painter and the Western Antique Aeroplane and Automobile Museum (WAAAM).

Case Communications is a member of the GTA in order to learn of business assistance resources and to meet interesting people.

2550 Reed Road
Hood River, OR 97031
541-386-6964
patcase@gorge.net

The Member Spotlight is a weekly email publication separate from the monthly Newsletter. To SUBSCRIBE to either the Member Spotlight or Newsletter, please email jessica@crgta.org. To UNSUBSCRIBE, please click on the "safe unsubscribe" icon below. This will unsubscribe you from the Member Spotlight ONLY and not from the Newsletter.